Dear Colleagues,

The single most important obligation we, as faculty and staff, have to the Notre Dame community is to provide a safe and secure environment for our colleagues, students and visitors. A number of actions help us to achieve this, ranging from providing appropriate workplace training to ensuring that the buildings we live, learn and work in are free of hazards.

Given a mandate by the University’s leadership team to expand our existing culture of safety, a team of individuals from a variety of departments has diligently worked to design a comprehensive new system capable of managing the numerous safety and ethics requirements at Notre Dame. After a lengthy review and design process, we are excited to announce that the complyND training and inspection management system is now available to campus.

I expect that each of us will have a need to use this system and become more knowledgeable of the rules, regulations and legislation that apply to our areas of work.

Within the complyND system, Supervisors can now assign training and monitor their people’s progress. Trainees will receive an email from comply@nd.edu requesting completion of assigned training. Building managers and principal investigators or their designees can access and directly address inspection results.

In the coming weeks, a number of courses will be made available to the campus community, including:

- Concussion Training
- Fall Protection Training
- Fire Extinguisher Training
- Ladder Safety Training
- NCAA Compliance
- Overhead Crane and Hoist Training
- Sexual Harassment Training

Additional courses, and the inspection module, will be added throughout the semester as the system matures.

As with any new system, education is key to successful implementation. The complyND website hosts a number of reference guides and how-to videos. Additionally, supervisor demonstrations are being offered in September and October.

For more information about complyND, please visit comply.nd.edu, or contact Risk Management and Safety at 631-5037 or Human Resources at 631-5900.

Thank you for your continued commitment in ensuring the University remains a safe place for all of our faculty, students, staff and guests.

Yours in Notre Dame,

Mike
